Deering of Course

THE DEERING HEADER

It is practically an all steel machine. It is durable, and has a very light draft—due to the generous equipment of steel ball and roller bearings. Among the features to be found in the DEERING HEADER are STRONG, high carbon steel axle, reinforced by truss rods—54-inch main wheel, 10-inch face, heavily lugged—equipped with ball and roller bearings. Pitman driven by elevator roller—direct—positive drive, no gears, no crank shaft. Guards have tempered steel ledger plates—If you are not already an owner of a DEERING HEADER—call and let us show you—and join the DEERING Friends

GLOBE-PHOENIX AUTO LINE GIVES GOOD TRIP

Comfortable Cars and Daylight Travel
Feature of Day's Journey.

Speedy transportation between Phoenix and Globe by the way of Fish Creek and Roosevelt, in cars of modern type and absolute comfort is the stock in trade of the recently organized Globe-Phoenix Auto Stage line, of which C. J. Asche and J. D. Jones are the proprietors. With three five to seven-passenger autos, two in service each way daily and the third available upon extraordinary occasions or when one of the other two may be in need of repairs, this concern is in a position to absolutely assure no disappointments either in the way of long delays or abandonment of scheduled trips.

Leaving the Ford Hotel and Doyle's cigar stand each morning at eight o'clock, simultaneous with the time of the departure of another car from Globe bound Phoenixward, the passenger is landed at Fish Creek in ample time to partake of the exquisitely prepared, home-cooked luncheon at mid-day and is then carried on to Roosevelt and Globe, arriving there about five o'clock.

It is an all the way daylight trip, made without inconveniences of long waits at railroad stations, dread of late trains and night arrival at Globe. The cost, too, is slightly less than by rail. To one making the long trip, going by the machines of the Globe-Phoenix Auto Stage line offers a day's outing that is incomparable. Whether the trip is being made for the first time or whether one is compelled by business or other reasons to traverse the route frequently, there is ever something new to attract the interest and attention and the glorious advantage of exhilarating travel in God's open air and bright sunshine. The trip is well worth taking even though one has no other purpose in view than that of an outing.

"The People's Foe"

(By WINIFRED HAWKINS.)

I.
The people's war against the Trust.
Continue will—continue must;
When Gen'l Greed in loud command,
In austere manner doth demand
The people's earnings as his right;
He turns their day-time into night;
He works them hard to make his name,
As he ascends the path to Fame.

II.
The Children-tollers in the land
He seizes with an iron hand;
At first they struggle—but, ah, no!
They still must work—he wills it so;
And all affrighted at his frown,
They drop with haste their pennies down.
He takes their hard-earned money,
Bright,

III.
"The widow's mite I so much need,
The laborer's too," said Gen'l Greed.
"While I the farmer's profit keep
He still may sow—I still may reap
And always, I, with oily tongue
Of eloquence, while them among,
Will please their ears and blind their eyes—
While I to heights of glory rise."

IV.
Ha! ha! I'll gain more strength each day;
I'll swell my purse now while I may;
While people fail to understand
What slaves they are—how I command
And every man who makes the race
For Senator or other place,
Who's honest, who will never use
The people's money, I'll abuse."

V.
"This man I'll fight and fight and fight!
He must not—must not bring to light
The Secret of my wealth; for I
Am not just ready now to die;
I've not acquired sufficient wealth
By machinations and by stealth.
I'll yet continue to beguile
The people and to steal awhile."

VI.
O Gen'l Greed; thy fears express'd
Concerning death—thy soul's unrest—
But demonstrate a weakness felt
Within thy breast: the people meet
No more before thy wondrous charm;
They've heard the war cry of alarm;
O Despot Greed! thy judgment day
Has come! Give way! Give way!!
Give way!!!

Drinking Men Not Wanted

There is no place in the business world for the man who drinks. He is not wanted because he is not dependable. The Governor of one State declares he will not appoint to office any man who becomes intoxicated, and all large business concerns are adopting the same policy. Do not be handicapped by this habit. You can be freed from all craving for drink in three days—without the use of hypodermic injections—by the Neal Drink Habit Treatment. Call and let us explain to you how you can be treated at the Neal Institute—or at your home—and be restored to society. Write or phone for full particulars and free book. The Neal Institute, 1537 W.
